

Research Training Group 2088
Georg-August Universität Göttingen

Location Theory in Phylogenetic Tree Spaces - Optimization and Statistics

Abstract

Phylogenetic trees, depicting evolutionary history of species, are objects of high interest in biology. To the present day, a lot of questions remain to be solved. The workshop 'Location problems in Phylogenetic Tree Spaces: Optimization and Statistics' is focused on finding new approaches combining both location theoretical and statistical methods to tackle open problems.